STREET WIDENING ORDINANCE KILLED

Hearing Proves Public Opinion Is Definitely Against Such Action.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND

The street widening ordinance is definitely quashed. This was the outcome of the public hearing called by Councilman Bates, of the Law and Ordinance Committee, in order to determine the state of public opinion on the matter. About sixty residents of the borough, many of them property owners on Essex, Forest and Narberth avenues, were present to offer their objections to such an ordinance.

The meeting was opened by Daniel Leitch, President of Council, who spoke briefly on the ordinance. Robert F. Wood said a few words about the history of the ordinance and then turned the meeting over to Chairman Bates.

What was expected to be a vehement clash of views on the subject turned out to be almost a packed meeting against the ordinance. As the proposed ordinance was modeled after the Chestnut street ordinance Robert J. Nash was requested to explain that city ordinance to the meeting. "The Chestnut street ordinance was never intended to widen the roadbed, it only widened the sidewalks," he continued, "don't contribute to real estate values. They simply increase the traffic congestion. A widened roadbed means increased speed. We have few accidents in our districts under discussion because people have to drive carefully." The expenditure also to accomplish the proposed project, Mr. Nash considered, would amount to a great sum—a quarter of a million dollars was his estimate. As a substitute for widened streets Mr. Nash offered supervised and enforced parking regulations, and suggested that an Essex avenue tunnel and the paving of Haverford avenue from Essex avenue to Wynnewood road would prove more beneficial and less expensive to the borough.

Several other people then expressed themselves on the subject, all being opposed to the ordinance. The consensus of opinion was that wider streets would not be a real benefit to the residents of the borough but would only aid the out-of-town shoppers and increase parking congestion.

A defense of the proposed ordinance was made by E. C. Griswold, who appeared to be its lone champion. Mr. Griswold pointed out that the curse of Philadelphia was narrow streets. The longer such widening is delayed the more it will cost the borough. Mr. Griswold held that wider streets, permitting access to more people, were advantageous to the merchants on them and thus increased real estate values.

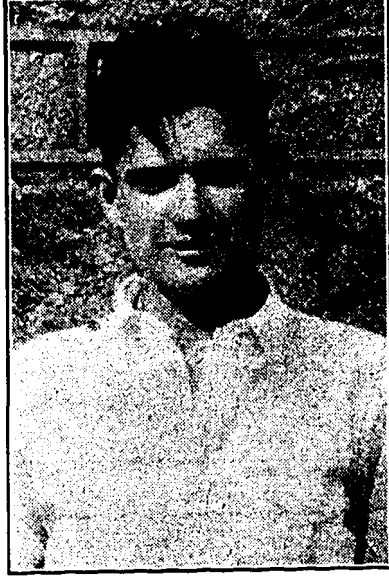

Baird Caldwell, one of the Essex avenue group in a way responsible for the ordinance, spoke in favor of it. The group it seems which instigated the movement was not well represented at the meeting. The general opinion seemed to be that no other chance should be allowed them to express their opinion on the matter since they passed up the opportunity open to all.

This ordinance whose immediate effect would have been to set the building line back ten feet on Essex, Forest and Narberth avenues, between Haverford and Windsor, and whose ultimate object was to widen these three streets, was introduced in Council and passed first reading solely for the purpose which was achieved on Thursday night. Public opinion on it was wanted and Council used this method as the most satisfactory one in getting that expression.

Tutor and Star Pupil

William Anderson, former Lafayette basketball captain who, as coach of the Lower Merion High five this year, has built up a formidable quintet. The team composed mostly of juniors and sophomores has won nine and lost three games. Mr. Anderson spends his working hours as physical director at the Ardmore high school, and such spare moments as he has left after coaching, as captain of the Penn A. C. basketball team.

Allan Cook, of Merion, who is one of Coach Anderson's star pupils and also leader of the Lower Merion High quintet. The basketball captaincy is but one of Cook's four jobs. He was 1927 football captain, is 1928 tennis captain, and is also vice president of his senior class. He has won seven varsity letters in the senior high school and two in the junior high. Upon graduation in June he will get a "Sweater of Distinction," the highest award Lower Merion gives to its athletes.

MERION BUS ROUTE PETITION APPROVED

Report That P.R.T. Will Take Formal Charge of Local Company.

Despite opposition on the part of Merion residents, Lower Merion township and Narberth borough officials, the Montgomery Bus Company has been granted its application for a new bus line from Overbrook, which is to run down Wynnewood avenue, Merion, and Wynnewood road, Narberth, to Bryn Mawr. The grant was made as of Tuesday by the Public Service Commission.

On the heels of this announcement came reports that the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company had completed arrangements to take over the Montgomery Bus Company and all its lines, as well as several suburban cab companies, among them one in Ardmore.

Approved by the Public Service Commission of the Montgomery Bus Company's application for another line through Merion and Narberth was not unexpected. Attorneys who attended the last hearing held in Philadelphia City Hall on December 1, 1927, were all of the opinion that the application would be approved when they heard Commissioner Benn, who presided, state at the end of the hearing that the "interests of all will have to be balanced—those that want the bus line as well as those who are opposed to it, because it will run past their homes."

This statement referred to Merion property owners on Wynnewood road, who, through their Merion Civic Association, had opposed any bus line on Wynnewood avenue. This opposition had been expressed at the December hearing as well as at a series of others extending back over a year when various routes for the new line had been suggested. In most of these hearings Lower Merion and Narberth authorities joined to protest also, claiming that the streets chosen for the route were unsuitable and too narrow.

As the result of the Public Service Commission's decision, south side Merion and Narberth will soon have bus transportation to Bryn Mawr. The route of the new line will be from the present Montgomery bus terminus in Overbrook to

RADNOR VICTIM AS L. M. ENDS STREAK

Anderson's Five Turns Tables to Win By Rival's Score of Last Year.

Tuesday evening Lower Merion High School's basketball team snapped out of its losing streak and handed its arch rival, Radnor High, a nifty setback by the score of 30-28. The game was played at Wayne before a partisan crowd.

This win over Radnor should act as a real tonic to the team, which had lost three straight games previous to the Radnor tilt and also had suffered the loss of its high-point scorer, Warren Lockwood. With the Radnor game on the right side of the ledger the season again looks hopeful. The Maroon and White quintet has now won 10 and lost three, a very good record.

Featuring the game was the stellar guard playing of Cook and Mandes. Both had hard men to take care of and the capable manner in which they performed their tasks was a big factor in victory.

Cook held Warren Lentz to a lone field goal, while scoring four himself. On the other side of the court George Lentz and Mandes put on a private battle of their own, with Mandes having slightly the better of the argument. Although Lentz scored four times to Mandes' two, the former's baskets were rather lucky, being long shots from the center of the floor.

The game was a thriller from start to finish, it was nearly a duplicate of the contest these same two rivals played last year, only then the decision was reversed with Radnor having 30 points to Lower Merion's 28.

OLD TIMERS' NIGHT PLANNED BY POST

Legion Hopes to Enroll Many Former Members of Body.

BOARD ELECTS PEEBLES

In an effort to bring former legionnaires back into the fold, the Harold D. Speakman Post is planning an "Old-Timers" Night at their February meeting on Monday the 27th. The plan was completed at a membership committee meeting Thursday night.

The committee learned that there are about 40 ex-service men in Narberth who, at one time or another, were members of the legion, but who had fallen by the wayside. Three of these former buddies were on hand Thursday and agreed to join in the plan.

These men, assisted by other members of the post, will canvass the former comrades and ask them to rejoin the organization. A special program is arranged for the meeting this month.

A short business session will be held, followed by an initiation of new members. Arthur Cooke, chairman of the entertainment committee has promised one good speaker of local interest, together with good refreshments and smokes.

"We want to recreate the spirit of fellowship so prevalent in past years," said Commander Robert C. Collins yesterday. "We want these new fellows to bring suggestions of how to make the meetings more interesting and of greater value to the members."

W. Loxley Peebles was elected first vice commander of the post at the executive board meeting Tuesday night to succeed W. Russell Green, resigned.

Instead of formal addresses there will be a round table conference, giving an opportunity for the discussion of any problems which have arisen in the minds of the parents.

Please bring your questions, written clearly, without signing your name.

The Council is sure that every parent has had questions to ask regarding school work, and a discussion of these will be helpful to both school and parents.

All fathers and mothers are urgently requested to be present at this meeting, Monday evening, and bring the questions they wish to have answered.

February is the birthday month of both the national and local Mothers' Council and there will be a candle lighting celebration at the meeting Monday evening.

TWO LOCAL CLUBS IN JOINT MEETING

League of Women Voters and Community Club Hear Speaker.

BOND ISSUE EXPLAINED

On Tuesday the Narberth League of Women Voters and the Women's Community Club of Narberth in joint meeting had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. S. Blair Luckie, of Chester, State chairman of legislation of the National Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Luckie said she had intended to speak about affairs in Washington but thought the audiences should be told about matters nearer home.

She explained at length the items and sums included in the $138,000,000 bond issue on which voters will be asked to express their opinions next November. Women all over the State are especially interested in the $50,000,000 for State institutions and the introduction of voting machines, which will not be able to cure all voting evils but which at least will furnish a correct count.

Mrs. A. B. Ross, president of the Montgomery County Federation, stressed the effort of club women to be 100 per cent. voters. She announced the offer of a prize to the club bringing in the largest voting percentage in the next election and hopes that there will be more than one of the 22 clubs in Montgomery county to show 100 per cent. Women should learn about the 14 amendments and the enormous bond issue and vote intelligently. Voters were reminded that newcomers should register February 21 and 22 in order to be able to vote at the spring primaries. The club was honored in having as guests Mrs. Walter Supplee, president of the Bala-Cynwyd Club, and several of her club women. Mrs. W. N. Mills was hostess of the afternoon.

ANSWER SECOND ALARM

The Narberth fire company was called out on a second alarm at 4:45 A. M. on February 6. The blaze was at the residence of R. R. Fernow, 327 Pembroke avenue, Cynwyd. The fire started on the second floor front of a three-story stone building. The damage, estimated at $25,000, was covered by insurance.

MISSION SOCIETY TO LUNCH

The regular monthly luncheon of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held on Thursday, February 16, at 12:30 in the church.

Firemen Honor Comrade Who Died at Cynwyd Fire

Engineer Joseph L. Cox, of the Bala-Cynwyd Fire Company, who died while on duty at Monday's fire, 327 Pembroke road, Cynwyd, was buried yesterday afternoon from his home in Elkins Park. Three of his pallbearers were members of the Cynwyd company. Residents in the neighborhood of the fire house sent a floral wreath, and the fire house was draped in black.

Cox, who was 66 years old, died of acute dilation of the heart while stooping to connect to a hydrant a hose for use against the fire which caused nearly $20,000 damage to the home of R. R. Fernow, on Pembroke road shortly after 4 o'clock Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernow and their four children escaped from the burning home when smoke awakened them, and were given refuge in the home of Harold K. Schoff, a neighbor, at 333 Pembroke road. So fierce was the blaze that the roof was nearly burned off the three-story stone and stucco structure, which was covered by insurance.

Delay in getting water sprayed on the fire, caused by the death of Engineer Cox, was placed at eight minutes by Chief William L. Hornung of the Cynwyd company, who manned his pump until Newton Endy, the company's other paid engineer, off duty at the time, arrived on the scene.

Until a successor is chosen for Cox, Joseph and John Onimus are taking his place at the fire house.

Narberth and West Manayunk fire companies aided the Bala-Cynwyd volunteers in fighting the fire, whose flying embers several times endangered houses in the immediate vicinity. Working in a temperature which registered 12 degrees above zero, the firemen made inspection tours of neighboring houses, to make sure their roofs would not catch fire.

DOG WINS PRIZE

Pommette Wee Shrub, dog owned by Mrs. Milford Dilks, of Ardmore, was awarded the special prize for the best of its breed at the Lancaster County Dog Protective Association's annual breed show, last week. A dog belonging to Mrs. Vestus J. Spindler, of Narberth, was also a contestant for the prize, which was the outstanding award of the show.

Abe Swartz, of the General Wayne district, sold a smart little wire-haired fox terrier at a fine figure on the closing day of the show, last Wednesday.

PETITIONS OUT

Nomination petitions for candidates for State offices in the spring primary, which must be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, made their appearance here this week. Four of them were in circulation and two were for the Secretary of the Commonwealth himself. Charles Johnson, of Norristown, who seeks election as Republican State Committeeman for Montgomery County, and as delegate from the ninth congressional district to the National Republican convention at Kansas City this summer.

One other petition was for Assemblymen Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, who will seek nomination and election as representative for this legislative district. The fourth petition was for Miss Nancy P. Highley, of Norristown, who will run for the post of alternate delegate to national Republican convention.

ANTHRACITIC WISDOM

In this age of consumer intelligence, mere words will not be sufficient to explain to a customer why a certain brand of product should be bought. It takes logic—good, hard facts that, written down, will bring the truth about a product down to the least common denominator for the public.

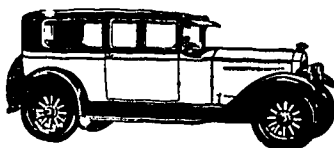

To say that coal is "good, clean Anthracite," makes a pleasant-sounding statement, but doesn't mean much. Any coal dignified by the name of Anthracite should be that. But if you can say, "The coal we sell contains a higher percentage of fixed carbon than any other Anthracite on the market"—and can prove it by authentic chemical analysis—there is something to lay your hands on! Because fixed carbon is the heat-producing element in coal.

Just one year ago we took over the exclusive sale of Jeddo-Highland coal, whose equal we have yet to find in uniformity of size, cleanliness, freedom from bone and slate, lowness in ash, and high percentage of fixed carbon.

PROPOSED COUNTY TAX RATE BOOST BREWS RISING STORM OF PROTEST

Claim Annex Cost Can Be Paid Without Raise or Bond Issue.
Township Leaders and Irvin Opposed—Commissioners Sidestep League Debate.

Announcement last week that the county commissioners were planning to boost the 1928 county tax rate from three mills to four in order to pay for the proposed $1,000,000 annex to the county courthouse brewed a storm of protest here which gathered in intensity as the week wore on. Lower Merion is distinctly not in favor of the rise, and as the wealthiest unit of the county, and as the township which pays almost half the taxes collected in Montgomery, it feels it has a right to be heard.

The annex, it is claimed, can be paid for in a few years out of revenue accruing from the present three-mill rate, and this can be done without the necessity of a bond issue. There is already a reserve on hand in the county's treasury to care for part of the expense and increased triennial assessments which go into effect this year will provide still more funds next year, and the following. This is the contention of leading township officials.

To the present the opposition to the proposed boost has been entirely individual. There has been no action taken by any Lower Merion organization. There is one association which views the need of a higher rate with doubt, however, and that organization will hold a meeting today to investigate the arguments pro and con. It is the Montgomery County League of Women Voters, an influential member of which is the Lower Merion League.

Opposition to the rise has come not entirely from this township. County Controller William C. Irvin has joined those opposed to the move and his stand, taken last week, that neither a tax boost nor a bond issue was necessary to build the annex has given the protest its strongest impetus.

It will be Mr. Irvin who will be the principal speaker against the boost at the meeting of the Montgomery Women Voters League which will be held today at the DeKalb street county headquarters in Norristown. Present indications are that he will have no one to debate with, for none of the three county commissioners who were also invited to present their side of the case has expressed his intention to attend. President Stout of the county board informed the league that he would be unable to speak because of an attack of laryngitis. The other two members, Commissioners Crawford and Keeler were reluctant to appear, intimating that if a message were to come from their board it should come from Mr. Stout, the head of it.

May Go On Record.

"The meeting at Norristown, which will be an open one, will be attended by League members from all parts of the county," said Mrs. Edward Lafitte, of Rosemont, secretary of the county league, Wednesday, "and we would like to hear from both sides on the question. Many of our members are not in sympathy with the attitude of the commissioners, who seem to feel a tax rise necessary, but we have taken no action yet." Action, it was intimated would be taken after the forum today.

Township leaders who have expressed opposition to the proposed boost are Frank H. Sykes, president of the Lower Merion Commission, and Peter C. Hess, township treasurer.

Asked for the attitude of the township commissioners, Mr. Sykes said: "Speaking for this one, I hope they don't do it. I think that the cost of the annex can be spread over a period of several years, and can be paid without an increase in the tax rate. Personally, I am not convinced that the county board will adopt the four mill rate."

Township Treasurer Hess, who is also leader of the Lower Merion Republican organization expressed outright opposition.

More Income, But Against It.

"A higher county rate would mean more money for this township—treasurer who collects county taxes on a percentage basis," he said, "but I am opposed to it and will fight it."

"Even if a bond issue were necessary, that should be fairer than to have the whole cost paid at the start. The annex will be used by future taxpayers as well as present ones. Why then should the present ones pay the entire cost?"

"Of course, the county commissioners have had heavy expenses put on them by grade crossings ordered eliminated by the Public Service Commission and by new roads, bridges and many other highway improvements planned," he concluded, "but even with that, I think that with proper financing, and with payments extended over a period of two years, as they will likely be anyhow, that the annex can be paid for out of current funds, without need for either a tax rise or a bond issue."

As the county commissioners have made no official announcement that they planned to kite the rate, doubt has been expressed that they are determined to do so. Belief has been expressed that while the commissioners may want to raise the tax rate, information that they would, was allowed to leak out in order to get the reaction of the county at large to the proposition.

That the information was only in the nature of a "feeler" seems dubious however, for last Thursday at a meeting of the Montgomery County Supervisors' Association at Norristown, President Stout was quoted as "also touching upon the county tax increase of one mill to pay for the court house annex, and informing those present that the one mill increase will be for about two years."

No Faith in Two-Year Promise.

Greatest opposition in Lower Merion has to do with that part of the argument which claims that the increase would be for "only two years." Were it necessary to raise the rate for a short time to pay the cost of the annex there might not be very serious opposition, but Lower Merion taxpayers have no faith in the promise that once the rate is up, the county commissioners will reduce it again.

The arguments of County Controller Irvin against the need for either a tax rise or a bond issue were based upon the figures of his budget which was submitted to the county solons last week.

In making up the budget Mr. Irvin allowed increases over last year's actual cost, to every department of the county's activities, with the result that he has an excess of cash on hand, unapplied for any purpose and available for the building of the court house annex of $471,772.69.

In arriving at this figure the controller has estimated the cash resources of the county from taxes at the prevailing rate of three mills.

Mr. Irvin estimates that if this cash surplus at the present tax rate can be maintained for the next three or four years the court house annex can be paid for absolutely without either an increase in the tax rate or the floating of a bond issue.

In the event that the annex is completed and must be paid for prior to the receipt by the county treasurer of sufficient ready cash, the deficit can be made up by the floating of notes in the county banks at 6 per cent. These notes, he estimates, can be taken up from current revenue in from two to three years.

Controller Irvin intends to recommend this course to the county commissioners. He will particularly urge that no increase in the tax rate be made at this time, but that the attempt to meet the building operations be tried during the coming year at the same tax rate.

The Sign of the Best Meats

Promote Good Health

"Rheumatism is an infectious disease—not a dietary disorder," according to Dr. Ruth F. Wadsworth, whose article in October 22, 1927, Collier's, insisted that three prejudices of vegetarians against meat-eating are ill-founded. "It is extremely doubtful," she continued, "whether any kind of food has any influence on the disease, good or bad."

Good meats promote good health. Bradley's meats are the best.

LINCOLN—HIS HOME

Comparatively little has been written about the home of this great man.

It is interesting to know that the house is built of native Walnut clapboards, hand made. The lath are of Hickory, also hand made. The floors are of native Walnut, as is all the moulding and trim.

This sturdy home, which still stands in good condition, is just another example of the durability of Wood.

A Growing Problem

The street widening ordinance has gone by the boards. It was introduced by Council solely for the purpose of ascertaining the state of public opinion on it, and such opinion was forthcoming in no uncertain terms. This means that traffic congestion and parking problems will have to be approached from another angle. Complaints were registered against the all-day parker. Such matters as this will have to be regulated now by control and not by expansion. The bus routing was another matter brought up, and it was learned that that is under the control of the State Public Service Commission, the borough government having no jurisdiction over their routes.

The traffic situation has been alleviated to a considerable extent by the moving back of the real estate office of Robert J. Nash. This was long a hazard to motorists and pedestrians alike due to its abutment into Haverford avenue. The corner can now be rounded and a pavement laid on the south side of Haverford avenue from that point to the steps leading from the station platform up to Essex avenue.

Then there is the matter of the turnabout at the station. It is rumored that the shade tree commission is fostering plans which, if worked out in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Railroad, would make this small green spot more attractive and at the same time less of a traffic obstacle. The additional space at the station is badly needed. Too often the drive there serves only as a stamping ground for the local taxi companies and non-patrons have a hard job squeezing through at rush hours.

Don't Hold Back

Among other famous dates this month there is one which every citizen of Narberth should save. That is the 23d, the date of the annual testimonial banquet to the Narberth Fire Company. If there is one local organization which deserves the whole-hearted support of the entire population of the borough it is the fire company. Its worth and efficiency has been tested repeatedly and it holds its own among any of the companies on the Main Line.

Acceptances to the banquet have been coming in slowly. Everyone planning to attend can confer a big favor on the sponsors by notifying them immediately of their intention, and those who weren't planning to attend can confer a bigger favor by changing their minds.

Not So Graceful

Without being unduly critical or censorious we would like to suggest that the borough's skyline might be enhanced. We refer to the bell tower in the old fire house on Haverford avenue now occupied on the first floor by a chain store. This no doubt served an excellent purpose in its day, but that day is no more, and its present usefulness is restricted to providing shelter for pigeons. Why should this architectural monstrosity still continue to dominate the main business section of the borough?

KIND TO ANIMAL

To the Editor of "Our Town": "Nigger," pet cat of Mrs. C. E. Price, Dudley avenue, died February 1, and had he lived until April would have been twenty-two years old. His long life is attributed to the care and kind of food—raw meat, lamb's liver, raw eggs, olive oil, milk and water. He was a great pet and it pays to be kind to animals.

Several births were recorded in Lower Merion during the past fortnight by G. C. Anderson, Ardmore, Registrar of Vital Statistics for the township and for Narberth. They include two in Cynwyd, two in Wynnewood, one in Ardmore and three in West Manayunk.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herbert Nellen, 4 Montgomery avenue, Cynwyd, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Lillian Adele, January 22. To Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Hubbard Baker, 309 Levering Mill road, Cynwyd, was born a daughter, Elizabeth Adele, January 17.

Dorothy Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival Van Roden Harris, 311 Kent road, Wynnewood, was born January 25, and Marguerite Annette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Murdock Casey, Sussex road, Wynnewood, was born January 29.

Sarah Ann was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernest Birchenall, 122 Sutton road, Ardmore, January 22. West Manayunk's three recent arrivals are Josephine Teenobi, Marie Bisanaro and Josephine Busa.

February 11. A rather difficult time for the editor of a weekly garden column. Seeds of annuals have been ordered and it is scarcely time to sow the early ones indoors. However, spring is coming on apace; within two weeks the snow-drip will be blooming to be followed promptly by the scilla.

Let us then get ready to sow seeds of the annuals that must be planted early indoors. These are the ones that are slower in flowering and if planted outdoors would bloom for a much shorter season.

The cigar box, used by some, is not especially desirable, as the wet wood is likely to breed a fungus and "damp off" the tender seedlings of snapdragons or delphiniums. The letter of course is perennial, but it is hard to resist the seedman's description and we will try a packet, although we know that they are better planted in August or September.

Earthenware fern pans four inches wide and two inches deep are ideal for sowing small lots of flower seeds, and if you want a large planting use one fern pan for each color or each variety. These little pans cost only 36 cents a dozen, and can be used for sowing perennial seeds in late summer.

One great advantage of the earthen seed pan is that it can be watered as seeds should be watered, from the bottom. It would be difficult to water a cigar box or a deep flower pot by allowing it to stand in water within a half-inch of the brim until the soil is thoroughly wet and the seeds, or seedlings, undisturbed; but with the little seed pans it is a simple matter and a shallow pan, or dish, will do the trick.

The ground outside might be frozen when we decide to sow seeds so that we had better watch our chance and bring some soil indoors. We will also want some sand and some humus, or leaf mould, to make a proper mixture in which to sow seeds. Ordinary garden loam, or clay, will not do for sowing seeds and getting them to germinate.

So much for preparation, except for one modern development that is truly a boon to the gardener, be he a kitchen gardener or a flower gardener, and that is the mercuric compound sold under the trade names of Semesan and Uspulun, a real seed and soil disinfectant that banishes fungus and also prevents black spot and mildew on roses. A small package will be a good investment and will almost assure 100 per cent. germination of seeds. The form for spraying roses is different in its application, being made to stick to the foliage.

Give fools their gold and knives their power.

Let fortune's bubble rise and fall,
Who sows a field or plants a flower,
Or trains a tree, is more than all.

At the Theater

A tremendous drama—that is the verdict on Jettie Goudal's new Pathé-DeMille star production, "The Forbidden Woman," which plays at the Narberth Theater on Monday and Tuesday. Certainly this is the best picture in which this exotic screen star has been seen since "Three Faces East."

Miss Goudal has the role of a spy in the pay of the Sultan of Morocco, and to obtain secret information she marries a French officer, portrayed by Victor Varconi. The finale is logical though tragic, and all in all, "The Forbidden Woman" has exceptional dramatic power and appeal. It was directed by Paul L. Stein, a German director of international reputation, and he has performed the work with extraordinary skill. The supporting cast is far above the average.

Dainty Vera Reynolds triumphs in "The Main Event," a fine fight film which opens at the Narberth Theater Wednesday for a two-day run.

Miss Reynolds does the best work of her screen career in this entertaining picture as a dancing girl who loves "Red" Lucas, a prize fighter. The picture is packed with thrilling scenes. The work of the star and her supporting players, notably Rudolph Schildkraut, Charles Delancy, Robert Armstrong and Julia Faye, is highly commendable.

The announcement that Phyllis Haver plays the feminine lead in support of Rod LaRoque in "The Fighting Eagle," which comes to the Narberth Theater on Friday next, will please her admirers. This production is said to be one of the most pretentious yet attempted by the DeMille organization.

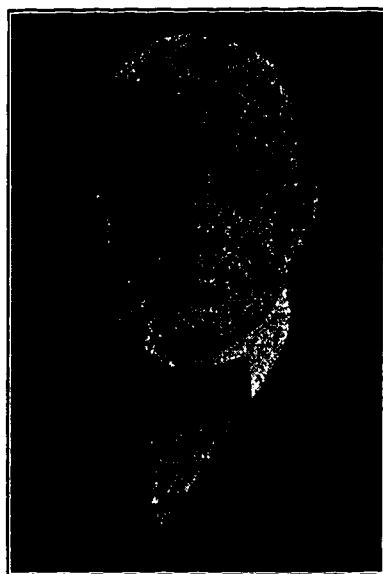

The scenes of the picture are laid in France during the Napoleonic era, and the story concerns a swashbuckling, adventuresome officer of Napoleon's army. It was prepared for the screen by Douglas Doty. Donald Crisp directed. Phyllis Haver, Julia Faye, Sallie Rand and Sam de Grasse are featured in the cast.

LAST CALL FOR SCHICK TEST

The Board of Health, co-operating with the School Board, announces that next Wednesday, February 15, will be the last opportunity for children attending the Narberth public schools to receive the Schick test. A percentage of those inoculated with toxin-anti-toxin have to be re-inoculated to be sure of immunity, the health board warns parents.

Major and Mrs. Jay Neff Thomas, of the Windsor-Essex, have as their guest this week Mrs. L. M. Furnas, of New York.

Re-Appointed

John Baltz, whose reappointment for another four-year term as Ardmore's postmaster, was confirmed by the Senate the past week. Long identified with Lower Merion Republican organization politics, he will celebrate his seventieth birthday in April.

POSTMASTER BALTZ IS REAPPOINTED

Will Continue to Be Ardmore Postmaster Four More Years.

Postmaster John R. Baltz, of Ardmore, received a telegram from Senator David A. Reed this week telling him that the United States Senate has confirmed his reappointment as postmaster at Ardmore for four more years. The new commission will be issued shortly.

Mr. Baltz, who has served Ardmore as postmaster for the past four years, received his first appointment in 1924. He was born in Gladwyne in 1858 and will celebrate his seventieth birthday this April. He has lived in Ardmore for the past 30 years at 59 Cricket avenue.

Years ago Mr. Baltz was in the painting and contracting business and was very active in the Republican organization. He was in the United States Mint in Philadelphia for 27 years.

Valentine Party for Girls

There's going to be a valentine party at the Y. M. C. A. on St. Valentine's night, Tuesday, February 14. It will start at 7:30 P. M. and the fun will continue until about 9:30. It will be a real party, too, with valentines, games and refreshments and everything. And if time permits, some stunts in the gymnasium.

Every girl member and former member is invited to attend and bring her mother and a chum. Meet your old friends at the "Y" again. Everybody who goes is going to have a good time.

And for goodness sake don't forget to take a valentine.

The volley ball tournament was continued on Wednesday with a game between Eighth Grays and Seventh Grays. The Seventh Grays won after a close and exciting contest by the following score, 15-11, 14-15, 15-10. It was the best game of the series up to the present time.

Dr. Diller, examining dentist for the borough schools, inspected every pupil in the school on Monday. As a result of his examination he found two hundred and seventy-seven (277) pupils who need immediate dental attention. This number does not include pupils now undergoing treatment by their family dentists. A limited number of cases will be treated by Dr. Diller under arrangements made with the Board of Directors.

Notices will be sent to parents early next week indicating the nature of the dental work required in the case of each pupil.

On Friday, through the courtesy of Mr. Case of the Narberth Electric Shop, the school had the pleasure of listening to a program of orchestral music, broadcast by the New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch. The following program was given:

1. Allegretto from Symphony No. 8, Beethoven.

2. Entrance of the Little Farms, Pierne.

3. Scherzo from Symphony in B flat, Glazounow.

On Friday, February 17, another program will be given by the same orchestra.

Dr. Francis Scott McBride
Superintendent Anti-Saloon
League of America

Dr. McBride is the most outstanding leader of the prohibition movement in America since the death of the late Wayne B. Wheeler. For twelve years he was Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois where his leadership attracted nation-wide attention. When a vacancy occurred in the National Superintendency Dr. McBride was chosen to fill it. There are few, if any, men in America today more sincerely hated and more bitterly attacked than Dr. McBride. He is a great leader of a great cause. Narberth is glad to welcome him where he will be the speaker at the community meeting in the Baptist Church, Sunday evening, February 12.

It is an unusual privilege to have Dr. McBride with us on Lincoln's birthday. For twelve years he worked in close touch with the Illinois Legislature, living part of the time at Springfield and has worked in every nook and corner of Illinois that knew Lincoln. It has been his privilege to know and talk personally with scores of people who, in their youth, had seen, heard or known of Lincoln.

A PAGE FOR NARBERTH'S CHURCHES

The Present Methodist Church

The familiar building at the corner of Essex and Price avenues was finished in 1895, after once being destroyed by fire while in the course of construction. It will give way soon to a new building.

Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church to Have New Building

First Building Destroyed by Fire, Was Rebuilt 1895. Purchase Lot.

Methodism was introduced into Narberth June, 1892, by a company of men and women then worshipping in the old Beth-Raffen Chapel on State road, north of the borough.

A bequest of $1425 by Miss Mary F. Thompson for the erection of a Methodist Episcopal Church near Elm Station, led to the organization of the church.

In August the lots on the southwest corner of Essex and Price avenues were purchased as a church site. The following October the erection of a stone edifice was begun. When nearly finished it was completely destroyed by fire December 14, 1933.

On September 15, 1895, the present church building was dedicated, free from debt, by Bishops Foss and Andrews.

The first pastor was the Rev. C. H. Basford. He was succeeded by the Rev. T. H. Evans, now the district superintendent of the North District of the Philadelphia Conference, who was the preacher in charge when the church was dedicated.

At the time of its organization the Narberth church was attached to the Merion Square circuit. This arrangement continued until March, 1897, when the Bishop made Narberth a station, appointing as pastor the Rev. H. W. Milson.

Rev. W. Gray Jones, Rev. E. F. Randolph and Rev. William B. Wood were pastors of Narberth in the order named.

In 1895 the first parsonage, located on Elm terrace, was purchased.

During the pastorate of Rev. William B. Wood the parsonage was sold and another lot was purchased on Essex avenue, south of the church.

In 1906, with the money secured from the sale of the old parsonage, together with the gifts of the congregation, the present substantial parsonage was built and furnished.

The Rev. James M. Shelly was appointed pastor of Narberth in 1908 and served the charge for two years. He was succeeded by Rev. Jacob P. Miller in 1910. The Rev. George W. Dungan became pastor of Narberth in 1912 and served the charge until his death, April 30, 1914.

The Rev. Christian G. Koppel was appointed to Narberth in June, 1914. Under his leadership the church made rapid progress.

A pipe organ with an electric blower was installed and dedicated on March 21, 1915. The membership of the church and Sunday school showed a rapid increase and the support of the pastor was advanced to $1500 and parsonage.

The Rev. Frank M. Gray was appointed to the charge in 1918 and had a successful pastorate of two years.

His children's church was one of the outstanding features of his pastorate.

During his pastorate plans were secured for the enlargement of the present church building, to meet the needs of a growing Sunday school.

The Rev. Arthur S. Walls was appointed pastor of Narberth in 1920 and served the charge efficiently for four years. During the first year of his pastorate there was a gain of 12 per cent. in membership and a $1600 increase in envelope and plate collections and $1300 expended for improvements.

The present pastor, the Rev. W. Sheridan Dawson, was appointed to the charge April 1, 1924. During the year 1925 a very definite advance was made toward the erection of a new church building.

After a careful study of the situation the building committee adopted the preliminary plans prepared by Mr. A. M. Adams and they were presented to the official board for approval. After the approval of the plans, the board decided to present them to all members and friends of the church in the form of a prospectus and to ask for pledges to cover a period of five years to provide for the cost of the building, which was estimated to be about $80,000.

At the close of the summer season of 1925 a financial canvass was made for the building fund, which culminated on rally day, October 11.

The district superintendent, Rev. W. E. P. Haas, D.D., preached at 11 A. M., and the Rev. C. M. Boswell, D.D., at 7.45 P. M. The cash and pledges received during the day, added to those previously reported, amounted to $38,000.

Owing to the delay of the architect in furnishing the finished plans and specifications, the board was unable to secure bids for the erection of the building until late in June, 1926. The lowest bid secured at that time was so much higher than the estimated cost of the building that it was found necessary to make another financial appeal before going on with the work. This plan culminated on December 12, 1926, when Dr. John Krantz, of Paterson, N. J., preached at both services and secured in cash and pledges $11,100 additional, bringing up the total amount in cash and pledges to about $51,000.

In March, 1927, the official board decided to revise the plans, so that the cost of the building could be kept within $90,000.

At a subsequent corporation meeting the revised plans were approved and the question of securing a better location was discussed. A committee was appointed with instructions to take an option on the property across the street and to endeavor to negotiate the sale of our present church building. The purchase of the property was subsequently sanctioned and as soon as the transfer of the property is made

PALEN, ROTARY SPEAKER

Makes Plea for Fellowship—Many Guests at Night Meeting.

Dr. Gilbert J. Palen, former district governor, was the speaker Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. He was instrumental in founding the club in 1926, during his term as head of the fiftieth district.

Dr. Palen made a plea for fellowship, religious training and human understanding. Rotary, he told his hearers, is an opportunity offered busy men to make and maintain contacts with others they might otherwise have time to see.

Prestidigitation was displayed to the members by Donald W. and J. Bertram Taylor, of Narberth, two youths who are developing the mystic art of legerdemain. Handkerchiefs vanished and cards appeared mysteriously at their command.

Visitors included John F. Schmunk, Walter C. Neeley and Radnor Kromer, of Cynwyd; Lyle G. Smith, of Narberth; A. L. Reinhold, E. W. Baldwin and Horace Entriken, of Ardmore. Mr. Schmunk is a former Harrisburg Rotarian, now living on Derwen road.

Musical selections were by Mr. Entriken, tenor, and Charles B. Aldred, baritone. Mr. Entriken was soloist at the joint meeting at Ardmore last week and appeared at Cynwyd at the request of a number of members who heard him at that time.

SEEK MORE STATE AID FOR HIGHWAYS

County Road Supervisors Hear Ludlow at Norristown Meeting.

STOUT ALSO SPEAKER

More State aid in 1929 for township highways, particularly those of second-class townships, than has ever before been given was advocated by the Montgomery County Supervisors' Association at its twenty-second annual meeting last Thursday afternoon in the court house at Norristown. A resolution was adopted unanimously, seeking to have the present legislature appropriate not less than $6,000,000 for State awards, even though it be necessary to wipe out State aid.

"Concrete roads cannot be built on a dirt road tax levy, nor concrete bridges for the price of plank structures," said former State Assemblyman Benjamin H. Ludlow, of Ardmore, the principal speaker, who favored more State aid for townships in their road building plans.

"A complete program is one great necessity," he said. "You must have a program before you talk of economy in road building. The cheaper method is not always the most efficient, and the people are not being fooled as to what is going on, when a good method of doing things is not adopted."

Urges No Anti-City Feeling.

Mr. Ludlow spoke at length on the bond issue plan of assisting townships, and gave some figures of importance to the supervisors at the meeting. He praised the public press for the assistance extended along all lines of township and others matters.

Drifting to political lines, Mr. Ludlow voiced his opinion as strongly against people outside Montgomery county coming into this territory and stating "who is who" in the political world. "Let our own leaders attend to that matter, and the outside keep out," he said.

The speaker also dwelt on the reported strong feeling of ruralites against the city people. This he advised against, and urged upon supervisors to prevent a growing desire of this kind among the people. Interest in other townships was also urged.

"Do not let your interest stop in your own township," said Mr. Ludlow. "Take an interest in what is going on in other townships. When you are through with your job, inquire as to how your neighbor in the next township is getting along. When you are through as a supervisor, do not stop on the boundary line; help your neighbor."

Seek More State Aid.

"Secondary or back roads of Montgomery county will be made excellent for travel at some future date, with the assistance of the county commissioners," was the statement of Daniel F. Stout, president of the Board of County Commissioners, and president of the supervisors' association, who also addressed the meeting.

"The commissioners have found it expensive to townships to carry out extensive road programs, and it is their purpose to aid in the endeavor to place roads in a condition so that motorists may get in and out with safety as well as ease," he declared.

According to Mr. Stout, the county commissioners have made a change in their policy, and are now planning to give county aid to the poorer townships in repairing roads which have been neglected because of lack of funds.

LIBRARY FIGURES GROW

Circulation Continues to Show Increase.

In preparing the Librarian's report for January there was shown to be a circulation for the month of 2532 books, which, while not being the largest record for any month, exceeds the record for January of last year by 331. The knowledge of such a gain as this proved to be quite stimulating and led to the oft-repeated request for comparative figures over the period of a year.

There may be embarrassing times in a librarian's day when she is asked to locate information about highly specialized topics of which she has scarcely heard, especially if she has to admit failure in providing material, but there is never a hint of uncertainty when asked if the work continues to increase.

With justifiable pride in the co-operation and support of the citizens of Narberth and vicinity, the library reports a circulation of 20,783 books in 1926, and a circulation of 26,991 books in 1927, the year just closed. These figures show an increase in circulation of 6208 books.

A "model town library," according to the proper authorities, should distribute five books per capita. A problem for statisticians.

APPROVE BUS PETITION

City Line and Wynnewood avenue, down Wynnewood avenue to Wynnewood road in Narberth, out this thoroughfare to Montgomery pike and up Montgomery pike to Morris avenue, Bryn Mawr.

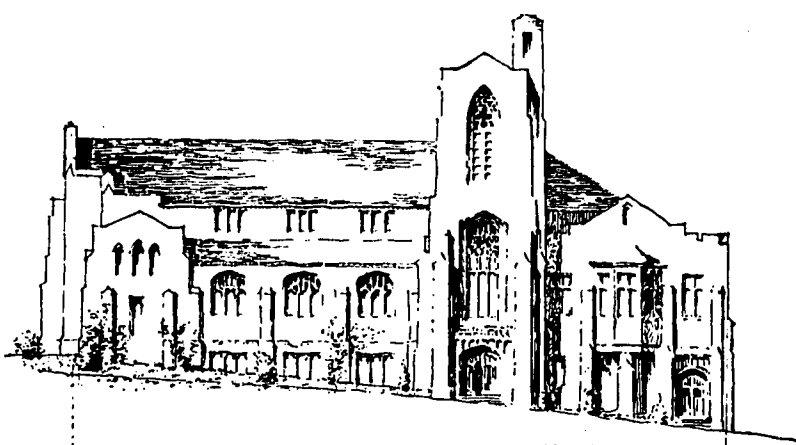

Upon the heels of decision on the new line came reports that the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company was planning to formally take over the Montgomery Bus Company and all its Main Line bus routes. This report was unofficially confirmed Wednesday at the Montgomery bus offices in Bryn Mawr, where it was stated that some such change was contemplated, but details were not generally known.

The belief was that a hearing was to be held this month for the Public Service Commission, at which application would be made for permission to take over the Montgomery Bus franchises. Included in this transfer, if it is made, would be the Philadelphia Suburban Bus Company, whose Montgomery Pike Lines, the Montgomery Bus Company is operating under a 10 year lease.

The belief has long been general on the Main Line that the Montgomery Bus Company was under P. R. T. control. These reports had always been denied previously when Montgomery officials were asked for confirmation.

Along with reports that the P. R. T. would take over the bus lines, came rumors that the Mitten Corporation had plans to take over a number of Suburban cab companies, among them one in Ardmore. These could not be confirmed, but it is claimed that since the P. R. T. acquired control of the Quaker Cab Company and thus gained access to the Pennsylvania's stations at Broad street and West Philadelphia, that proposals have been to the railroad officials to turn over cab stands at Suburban stations to the Mitten Company. To eliminate all possible friction, rumors state, offers would first be made to the independent cab operators at these stations to sell their franchises.

April Will Be Busy Month for Women Voters

April will be a busy month for the Montgomery County League of Women Voters. On April 10 there will begin a new institute of politics, which will be inaugurated at Bryn Mawr College, and on April 18 there will be the annual spring luncheon. Plans for both these affairs were made Monday at the regular meeting of the county league at Philadelphia headquarters.

Speakers at the political institute will discuss current problems. The Delaware and Bucks County Leagues of Women Voters will co-operate in the institute as will Bryn Mawr, Ursinus, Swarthmore and Haverford Colleges.

Plans are being made to have Senator David Reed, Congressman Watson and other candidates on the political slate speak at the spring luncheon. A place for the affair will be set later.

Among those at the session Monday from the Main Line were Mrs. Herman L. Schwartz, Miss Gertrude Ely, the county chairman; Mrs. Edward LaFitte, Miss Margaret Saunders, Mrs. O. F. McCormick, Mrs. Samuel McCreary, Mrs. B. E. Achenbach, Mrs. Arthur Staples, Mrs. John Y. Huber and Mrs. William E. Lunt, the new Lower Merion league chairman.
